Navy Bomber Hits Inside N. Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — A U.S. Navy fighter-bomber today made the 70th strike inside North Vietnam this year after two surface-to-air missiles were fired at it, the U.S. Command announced.

The command said there was no damage to the A6 Intruder in the exchange of missiles 105 miles north of the demilitarized zone. The plane fired one missile at the SAM site, but the result was not known, the command said.

The A6 was bombing the Ho Chi Minh trail in neighboring Laos when the SAMs were fired at it from a site 33 miles north of the Mu Gia Pass, the command reported.

Enemy gunners shot down two U.S. helicopters in the central highlands, raising announced American aircraft losses in the Indochina war to 8,004.

One crewman was wounded in the crashes Monday of an OH6 light observation helicopter 17 miles west of Pleiku and a UH1 Huey transport 34 miles northwest of Laos.

Ground fighting continued in a lull with only small clashes reported, but the U.S. Command said helicopter gunships killed 24 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong in the Mekong delta 140 miles southwest of Saigon.

U.S. B52 heavy bombers were again diverted to targets in Laos and Cambodia because of the low level of fighting in South Vietnam. The big Stratofortresses hammered the Ho Chi Minh trail in eastern Laos and storage depots in eastern Cambodia.

American artillery blasted North Vietnamese positions in Cambodia and in the southern half of the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam, the U.S. Command said. Meanwhile, Marshal Lon Nol, Cambodia's semi-invalid prime minister, flew on Monday to his army's northeastern front where Cambodian troops along a 30-mile stretch of Highway 6 are holding out against fierce enemy attacks, the Cambodian military command reported.

The marshal, who is still partially paralyzed by a stroke suffered last February, made a surprise visit to the town of Baray, the headquarters for the thrust up Highway 6.

Open Forum Planned on Pesticides

The pesticides committee of the State Plant Board will hold an open forum on the "Adequacy of Current Laws and Regulations on the Sale and Use of Pesticides in Arkansas."

Calvin J. Caldwell, County Extension Agent, said the meeting will begin at 1:30 p.m., November 15, in the Lafayette Hotel, Little Rock.

The tentative program calls for:

- A review of current pesticide laws and regulations;
- Trends in federal legislation;
- Problem areas in the distribution and use of pesticides; &
- Open discussion on these and related items.

Mr. Caldwell said all interested persons are encouraged to attend and express their views. Written statements for the record may be submitted.

Experiment May Ease Storms

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — If an experiment by federal weather experts succeeds, Buffalo and nearby shoreline communities will receive less of a wallop from Lake Erie snowstorms in the coming weeks.

According to the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, the idea is to seed storm clouds over the lake so that snow flakes will be lighter.

As they are blown toward land, some should travel further into the interior, thus sparing Buffalo of a portion of the 100-mph snowfall it sometimes records.

Wants Overhaul of All Foreign Aid Programs

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — White House lobbyists are trying to pry from Congress as much money as they can to rescue the foreign-aid program.

But Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he is prepared to see the whole program halted if that is what it takes to force a total overhaul of the foreign-aid system.

The United States, he said, is spending twice as much on military as on economic and technical assistance, and "we ought to stop, look and listen," then reform the program.

Mansfield said in an interview he would not be averse to seeing it lapse while reform is considered.

The White House said it is essential that Congress adopt a resolution to continue foreign-aid spending authority past Nov. 15, the date it is due to expire.

Mansfield said he remains opposed to any such resolution. Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, who also wants a new look developed in U.S. foreign aid, said he would agree to a 30-day extension of the current program to provide time for the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to fashion a new one.

"The Senate has rejected the old program, and the administration must come to terms with that fact," Church said. He said the Senate will not approve any carbon copy of the $2.9 billion foreign aid bill it rejected in a surprising 41-27 vote last Friday.

Church also said military aid should be substantially reduced, with the use of U.S. military appropriations in Indochina forbidden for any purposes but withdrawal. The administration is bitterly opposed to such a restriction, which was defeated earlier by the Senate.

"I think we can pass it," Church said Monday. Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird met with President Nixon for an hour Monday, and said afterwards rejection of the foreign-aid program would jeopardize the U.S. program of withdrawal from South Vietnam.

"The success of the American withdrawal action from Vietnam and the whole negotiations field will be affected by such an action," Laird said.

Guardianships Allowed in Two Cases

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — U.S. District Court Judge J. Smith Henley issued a temporary order Monday allowing two pupils to remain at McClellan High School rather than report to Mills High School.

The pupils were ordered to transfer to Mills by the Pulaski County School Board.

While the order only covered two pupils, Henley said the board "may wish to consider permitting all the guardianship claimants to continue in attendance as though they were covered by the provisions of this order."

Bond Issue in No Way Obligates the Citizens of Hope

To the voters of Hope:

On November 9 you will be asked to go to the polls to cast your vote on two Act 9 bond issues. If these are approved, a fine new industry, Tennessee Forging Steel Corporation, will build a plant here, and Permaneer Corporation, which owns the Wynnewood Products Plant here, will expand their facility in Hope. Your Industrial Foundation feels that these two additions to our city will do much to broaden the economic base and add to the purchasing power of our community.

We feel very fortunate that these two fine companies have selected Hope. Numerous other cities have sought them and your Industrial Foundation, with the help of the AIDC, has worked hard to bring them here.

Act 9 bond issues in no way represent an obligation on the part of the voters of Hope. The bond election is held simply to authorize the sale of the bonds, which are an obligation of the companies in whose names they will be issued.

These companies will be contributing much needed funds to our school system, in addition to the many other advantages they will bring. This is a fine opportunity for Hope and we urge you to go to the polls November 9 in support of these bond issues.

I will be happy to answer any questions voters may have with regards to this election. Sincerely,

Thomas E. Hays, Jr.
President, Hempstead Industrial Foundation

Petition Questions Appointment

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Supreme Court has taken under advisement a petition by Pros. Atty. James Guy Tucker questioning the appointment of a special judge in Pulaski County.

James R. Howard was elected a special judge to assume the duties of Circuit Court Judge Richard Adkisson, while Adkisson takes a week's vacation.

Tucker contends that his office should have been notified of the election.

Tucker told the court Monday that he feared Howard's jurisdiction over some cases might subsequently be successfully challenged by defendants and that the work of the prosecutor's office on those cases would have to be performed again unless Howard was properly serving.

Sees Troop Level Drop in Vietnam

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird left for Vietnam today predicting the U.S. troop level there will fall below President Nixon's target of 184,000 by Dec. 1.

Laird declined to provide any figure, but defense sources have said in the past they expect the number of Americans in Vietnam to be reduced by Dec. 1 to about 175,000.

Laird's mission, his fourth trip to Vietnam since becoming secretary in 1969, is to make what he called "a further assessment of progress being made in the military as well as the economic area."

He will make this assessment for the President in preparation for Nixon's next withdrawal announcement about Nov. 15.

Under questioning, Laird said "I am not tied to any figure so far as any remaining force is concerned."

Friday 'Leak' Has ABA Mad at Justice Dept.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Like two lovers whose romance has turned sour, the American Bar Association and the Justice Department are mad at each other and they don't care who knows it.

The fight is over "leaks," Washington's way of describing information that gets to the public early enough to embarrass someone.

The information that has the ABA and the department at odds is a list of six potential Supreme Court nominees and a negative assessment of the top two, Herschel H. Friday, a Little Rock lawyer, and Mildred L. Lillie, a California judge.

Twenty-four hours after the list was sent to the ABA for investigation the six names were in the newspapers and on radio and television. The ABA committee's sour reaction to Friday and Mrs. Lillie was in print within 12 hours.

Blaming these "premature" disclosures, Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell broke with the ABA even as President Nixon was naming two who were not on the list, Lewis F. Powell Jr. and William H. Rehnquist, for the court. This ended a 15-year partnership in which the ABA's committee on the federal judiciary looked into Supreme Court prospects for the department and the White House.

Late Monday, the 12-member committee made public a report that rekindled the feud. The department itself was the source of the "leaks," the ABA suggested.

Some of the six names to be investigated "had already been made public by the White House or other administration sources" even before they reached the committee, the report said.

Indian Prime Minister to Visit U.S.

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Indira Gandhi of India flies to the United States on Wednesday seeking to persuade President Nixon to reassess and revise the whole basis of Indian-American relations.

Senior authorities who portrayed her thinking said Mrs. Gandhi considers that American backing for Pakistan, in the name of political leverage, is delaying a political settlement of the East Bengal crisis.

If it goes on unchanged she is convinced, according to Indian informants, the steady drift toward another Pakistan-Indian war will gather momentum.

Mrs. Gandhi is on a tour of Western capitals. She already has visited Vienna and Brussels, and from London she will go to Washington, Paris and Bonn.

The Indian leader has hopes Nixon will respond favorably to her call for an examination in depth of Indian-American relations with a view to revising their basis. As she is believed to see it, one of the most distinguishing characteristics of the Nixon administration has been its readiness to break new ground in foreign policy.

This has been dramatically expressed in a variety of ways, including the President's initiatives to improve relations with Communist China, toward negotiating with Moscow on a range of big issues and toward recasting the world's money system.

Merchants Endorse Bond Issues

The merchants of Hope heard an explanation of the proposed bond issues by Thomas E. Hays Jr., president of the Hempstead County Industrial Foundation, and voted unanimously to endorse the bond issues and urged the people of Hope to go to the polls on November 9 and vote for both bond proposals.

A large vote will show the AIDC the interest of Hempstead County in this and future industrial growth.

Innocent Plea in Shooting

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Ernest Smith, 34, of Little Rock pleaded innocent Monday to the fatal shooting of Johnny Clay, 33, of Little Rock Friday.

Police said Clay was shot outside Smith's home.

Smith also pleaded innocent to a charge of assault with intent to kill in the wounding of Cecil McClaire Jr., 22, of Little Rock.

A preliminary hearing in the case has been set for Nov. 16.

On Economic Scene Foreign Trade Has Improved for U.S.

By LAURANCE F. STUNTZ
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The economic steps taken by President Nixon to improve America's foreign trade are having their hoped-for effect.

American exports are higher and imports lower despite a general slowdown in international trade.

With Phase 1 of the economic policy coming to a close, here are its trade effects:

—The United States is selling more overseas than it is buying. However, with war and other expenses, it is still spending more than it earns.

—Foreigners are increasing their investment in America.

—Farmers are finding less competition from imported meat.

—Machinery builders are increasing sales at home as well as abroad.

These advantages have been gained at the expense of other countries. A "worrying slowdown" in international commerce is hurting European countries and Japan. Their export volume is down and their unemployment is growing.

This is not entirely due to the world recession, which has been incubating for months. But a lot of it, in the words of London banker Frederic Seebohm, is due "to a heavy reduction of international trade which is happening now and is very worrying."

The United States' apparent immunity to the worst of this is proven by last week's trade figures which showed it sold a quarter billion dollars more than it bought in September. Some of the big gain in exports—$4.51 billion compared to $3.68 billion in August—was due to a hasty shipment of goods before the dock strike started.

However, in general the floating exchange rates and the 10 per cent extra duty on imports seems to be having the effect President Nixon expected when he put them in Aug. 15. The float reduced the cost of American goods sold overseas.

For instance, the United States is selling more machinery abroad. Industry Week, a Cleveland magazine, quotes one exporter as saying his prices now are 10 per cent below comparable European and Japanese products. "Early returns on exports are good news," the magazine commented.

Halloween Law Under Study

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Legislative Council has been asked to research Arkansas law pertaining to punishment of persons who give harmful objects to children during Halloween.

State Rep. Roscoe D. Brown of Jonesboro said Monday night if Arkansas did not have an adequate law which would cover the situation he would sponsor such a measure in the next session of the legislature.

The Little Rock Police reported Sunday night that in one area of the city trick or treaters were given fruit with needles and razorblades inside.

New Draft Deferment Policy

By JERRY T. BAULCH
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Selective Service proposed a new draft deferment classification today to enable the service to "do business with people likely to be drafted and let the other people go about their business."

Deputy Director Daniel J. Cronin said the new rules, expected to go into effect in December, establish a "1H" holding classification for most 18-year-olds and some men over 18 and abolish the old "1Y" catch-all category. The proposed rules also establish new procedures for draft board exemption and deferment hearings designed to enable a young man to make "a fair representation of his claim" without permitting protesters to clog up the system, draft officials said.

The new draft law requires that the rules be published in the Federal Register 30 days before they go into effect to permit comments or suggestions.

Unless they ask for special classification, 18-year-olds will be put in the holding group until their lottery numbers are drawn during the year they reach 19. If they have high numbers and are safe from the draft, they'll remain 1H and save bother for both them and their draft boards.

The 1Y classification is to be eliminated because it raised many objections by lumping various draft-exempt men such as homosexuals, criminals and borderline physical cases into one category. In the future, men are to be classified 1A-IV, meaning acceptance undetermined, or 1A-RI, meaning their cases are being adjudicated. Temporary physical disqualifications, such as bone fractures, would put men in the 1A-RI classification.

The board had been given until Monday to submit a new plan.

Adopts Busing To Comply With Court Order

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Little Rock School Board adopted a busing plan for fourth and fifth graders to comply with an order by the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals for a new elementary school plan.

The board had been given until Monday to submit a new plan.

Under the plan grades 1-3 would be left basically on a neighborhood school concept.

The plan calls for busing pupils in grades 4-5 from predominantly white schools in western Little Rock to the east side of the city. Pupils in grades 4-5 from predominantly black schools in eastern Little Rock would be sent to schools in the western side of the city.

In the Central part of the city fourth and fifth grade pupils would be bused to schools within the central district in instances where schools have less than a 20 per cent degree of desegregation.

Tidal Wave Toll 10,000 Families

By MYRON L. BELKIND
Associated Press Writer
NEW DELHI (AP) — The tidal wave and cyclonic storm that struck the Bengal coast last weekend devastated an area of 1,000 square miles where nearly five million persons lived.

The United News of India, in a dispatch from one of the hardest hit districts in eastern Orissa State, reported that 10,000 families were feared to have perished in the coastal regions and that two million persons were missing.

The official death toll was 3,391, most of them East Pakistani refugees who had been moved to the offshore island of Jambua, about 200 miles southwest of Calcutta.

However, this figure was based on sketchy preliminary reports from the few villages and islands that had managed to make some contact—often by runners—with the state government in Bhubaneswar.

Press reports said that bodies were floating in the flood-swollen rivers in many rural areas. Orissa Revenue Minister Pratap Chandra Mohanty said the entire districts of Cuttack and Balasore, with a combined population of about 4.6 million, had been devastated by the cyclone and the floods that the 16-foot tidal wave touched off.

The storm did most of its damage, according to initial reports, in the low coastal areas known as the Orissa rice bowl. The entire crop, that was due to be harvested shortly, was destroyed.

Officials said the salt water flooding the area was also ruining the farm land for years to come. The storm also killed an estimated 5,000 head of cattle and destroyed much of the new Paradip port, used by international shipping lines which want to avoid the congestion at Calcutta, 200 miles to the northeast.

Officials said about $26 million was urgently needed to give food and shelter to the coastal residents.

Prime Minister Indira Gandhi railed her condolences to the people of the region. She is in London on a tour of Western nations.

Finance Minister Y. B. Chavan announced he would tour the devastated area on Wednesday.

Voters in 2 States to Pick Governors

WASHINGTON (AP) — Voters in Kentucky and Mississippi elected governors today, four states chose legislators and scores of cities selected mayors in a warmup to the political heat wave waiting around the turn of the calendar.

Such races as Kentucky's choice of a governor and New Jersey's taste in legislators were being watched as potential bellwethers of the electorate's mood on the eve of a presidential year.

But the best clue probably lay in key mayoral races from Philadelphia to San Francisco where issues have been developed akin to the national inter-ests.

In Philadelphia, former Police Commissioner Frank L. Rizzo, the Democratic nominee, has paced a law-and-order campaign which made him the favorite in today's voting over Republican Thacher Longstreth, who has picked up moderate and reform Democratic dis-senters.

But, in Boston, Rep. Louise Day Hicks, who has campaigned for law and order and built a national reputation four years ago with an antibusing campaign, was an underdog to Mayor Kevin White. Both are Democrats.

In San Francisco Mayor Joseph L. Alioto, under indictment in connection with an alleged fee-sharing arrangement, was fighting for a second term and his political survival.

Alioto was challenged by Board of Supervisors President Dianne Feinstein, who wants to make San Francisco the largest city in the country with a woman mayor; former San Francisco Chronicle executive editor Scott Mewhall; restaurant owner Harold Dobbs; stockbroker Fred Selinger and six others.

Carl B. Stokes, Cleveland's first black mayor, declined to run again, but he took a special interest in the bid of independent Arnold Pinkney, black president of the school board.

A Pinkney victory over Democratic nominee James Carney and Republican Ralph Perk Sr. would go far toward putting Stokes at the head of the nation's first urban-black-oriented political machine strong enough to govern a city. Indiana Democrats hoped to pick up a score of new mayors' posts. Forty-eight cities in New York elected mayors today, although Yonkers and Rochester were the only big towns involved. Most cities and towns in Massachusetts elected mayors as did Sacramento, Calif., Columbus, Toledo, Youngstown and Akron, Ohio, and New Haven, Hartford and Bridgeport, Conn.

Tito in Plea to Yugoslav Americans

LOS ANGELES (AP) — President Tito of Yugoslavia has made an emotional plea for Yugoslav-Americans to unite in brotherhood and bury factional disputes.

Tito's remarks came in an off-the-cuff speech Monday night at a reception in his honor given by Yugoslav-Americans in Southern California.

State Department officials estimated that more than 1,000 attended the reception at the Century Plaza Hotel, his last scheduled event during his visit to Los Angeles.

The 79-year-old president, speaking in his native tongue, said his government is moving to unite all the constituent republics of Yugoslavia by allowing them more rights. On that note, he urged Yugoslav-Americans to remember that although their ancestors may have been Serbs, Croats or members of other factions, they should remember they are first Americans and then Yugoslavs.

His remarks were translated for reporters by a member of the official party.

Emotion ran high during the speech, with enthusiastic applause.

Earlier, Tito had greeted a procession of movie stars at another large reception, and had spoken to the World Affairs Council, a civic group.

ELMER WAGNER

During the weekly luncheon at the Town and Country, Hope Lions Club heard an account and saw color slides of a month's tour of Europe. Lion Hubert and Lioness Ann Thrash jointly presented the program, which was arranged by Program Chairman Calvin Smith.

The couple departed on August 15 for Germany by way of Shannon, Ireland, and then on to Frankfurt, Germany, which was about one hundred miles from their son, Larry's, home. They then visited Germany, Switzerland, Italy, and Austria accompanied by Larry and his wife. After returning to their son's home, the couple departed for Paris, London, and Amsterdam, and then returned to Hope.

The slides and personal experiences recounted were very interesting and informative.

Senior Lion Elmer Wagner of McCaskill was pressed into service as song leader by way of noting his eightieth birthday.

Dwayne Elgin, Manager of Morgan and Lindsey of Camden was guest of Lion Morris and Herbert Hunicutt of the Experiment Station was guest of Lion Thrash.

Members of 4-H Clubs to Sell Candy

Hempstead County 4-H members will be calling on local citizens to purchase a box of World's Finest Chocolate, beginning October 29, as part of a statewide effort to raise additional funds for the expansion of county, district, and state 4-H work. The drive will conclude on November 15.

Calvin J. Caldwell, County Extension Agent, says that the county sales goal is 15 boxes per 4-H member. Each box will sell for $1.

Plans are being developed in Arkansas for an improved and increased statewide 4-H youth program. Funds from this drive will be used to support the expansion of club and county programs, 4-H Citizenship of Arkansas delegates to the National 4-H Conference, District and State Adult and Teen Leader Forums, development of new projects, camping programs at the county, district, and state levels, special awards, and recognition programs. All profits will be used to further develop the Arkansas 4-H Program.

We hope that everyone will give full support to our 4-H boys and girls. By supporting this drive, many worthwhile educational programs and activities will be provided for our county 4-H'ers, says the County Extension Agent.

Much cooler weather is expected to spread through Arkansas by Wednesday.

The cooler temperature should begin in the northwest half of the state today with scattered frost forecast for the extreme northwest portion of the state tonight. Cooler weather is expected to reach the southeast portion of the state tonight.

The forecast for Wednesday calls for sunny skies and cool temperatures.

High Wednesday should be in the 60s. Several stations reported readings in the 80s Monday. Highs today should be in the low 70s northwest to upper 70s south-east.

The cooler readings will result from a cold front which extended through central Arkansas this morning. With the front running from the northeast corner of the state to the southwest corner temperatures this morning ranged from 44 at Fayetteville to 69 at Jonesboro.

Lows tonight should be in the mid 30s in the northwest to the mid 40s in the southeast.

Security Is Tightened in London

LONDON (AP) — Four thousand extra police were called to duty in the heart of London today, doubling the usual force, for a massive security operation to protect Queen Elizabeth II in the wake of two terrorist bombings.

More than 500 Scotland Yard agents and police were assigned to watch over the sovereign during her coach ride with Prince Philip and Prince Charles to open the new session of Parliament.

Three helicopters patrolled the royal route, and police launches with frogmen guarded the Thames river approaches to the Houses of Parliament. Four times on Monday police combed the labyrinth of cellars beneath Parliament where on Nov. 5, 1605, Guy Fawkes was nabbed as he was about to set off barrels of gunpowder underneath the queen's predecessor, King James I.

Two bomb blasts shook London Saturday and Sunday nights. The first damaged the 620-foot Post Office tower, the second ripped into an army barracks in Westminster District.

An anonymous caller warned after the Post Office explosion that the next target would be the Queen Victoria tower at the Houses of Parliament, a few yards from where the monarch was to step down from her coach. A screen of steel wire netting was slung around the base of the tower to catch any thrown bombs, broken glass or falling masonry.

Police admit they don't know who was responsible for the weekend bombings. Anonymous callers claimed they were the work of the Irish Republican

Nixon's Supreme Court Nominees Receive Support

WASHINGTON (AP) — Communications received by the Senate Judiciary Committee are overwhelmingly in support of President Nixon's Supreme Court nominees, Lewis F. Powell Jr. and William H. Rehnquist.

The committee is to start its hearings Wednesday, and Rehnquist, an assistant attorney general and former Phoenix lawyer, is expected to be questioned first.

Less opposition has surfaced to the nomination of Powell, a millionaire Richmond, Va., lawyer and former president of the American Bar Association, than to Rehnquist.

The ABA's committee on the federal judiciary, which has been investigating qualifications of both men, is expected to notify the Senate panel of its position before the hearings start.

Halloween Party

About 100 attended the Children's Costume Party at the Hope Country Club on Saturday night, October 30. Appropriate Halloween decorations set the stage for the games directed by Mrs. W.C. Bruner, Jr. and Mrs. Charles Snowden, and prizes went to the winners. The children bobbed for apples and had their fortunes told by Mrs. Bill Routon.

The old clubhouse was turned into a Spook House, and Mrs. Clyde Monts was in charge of the eerie activities that went on there. Back in the new clubhouse black cat and jack o' lantern cookies were served with fruit punch.

Host couples were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hairr, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Monts and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carey.

Methodist Kindergarten Has Halloween Party

On Friday, October 29, 1971, the children of Methodist Kindergarten enjoyed a Halloween party which they had planned and prepared for themselves. Early in the week the children made a shopping trip to the supermarket to purchase a big pumpkin for the Jack-o'-lantern. For that trip Griffin Park and Mark Hobson acted as traffic policemen and conductors of the tour of the store. Deanna Formby and Beth Graves were the cashiers. Though all the children had a vote, the final decision rested with the purchase committee which was composed of: Becky Raschke, Lloyd Bass, Kelley Riggs, Robin Davis, Dwayne Massingale, Mark Devenney, Susan Worthey, and Trey Sharpe. The wagon committee—John Garrett, Gil Burke, and Danny Brown were responsible for the transportation of the pumpkin.

The children made giant orange and black cats to decorate the walls of their rooms and developed some original games for the party. Mrs. Clyde Park sent cup cakes, beautifully decorated in the Halloween motif to honor her son, Griffin, on his sixth birthday.

Crochet Head 'n' Hand Set

By JUDY LOVE

Clap hands — it's crochet- away time. Here's a beautiful way to beckon cool weather, and an easy way to crochet a head start on special gifts. It's hard to believe that nippy days are right around the corner and that before long your gift list will require checking off names. So get an early bird needle-worker start and work your way with beguiling crochet.

Here's your hand and head start: bright warm and good looking, two-color, striped mittens and a matching striped pompon beret. You work the pattern in an easy joint, single crochet stitch, working two strands of yarn throughout. This easy, fast technique gives a bulky but soft and pretty effect. Both mitten thumbs and the beret border are simple, single crochet. You'll use a size K crochet hook, working with Coats and Clark 4-ply, Red Heart knitting worsted. This yarn is available in all variety and chain stores, as well as in many needlework departments.

The bright little beret that's so fashion-right today is finished with a snappy pompon that you can make in minutes.

So salute the season and get to work on this charming pair of winter-warmers. For clear, easy-to-follow directions just send 50 cents to Sitchin' Time, c/o your local paper, Radio City Station, Box 503, New York, N.Y. 10021. Ask for Sitchin' Time leaflet S328 and include your name, address and zip code.

KNIT KNACKS

Dear Judy—I'm relatively new to the art of needlework and would like a little advice on how to measure my work while it's still in progress. The hit-and-miss method has worked so far, but my ventures are getting more complicated and I want to be sure that they'll fit. Can you help? Thanks very much.—S. A., Chicago, Ill.

Dear S. A.—I wouldn't advise you to continue with the hit-and-miss method. Things aren't always as they seem, to paraphrase the old cliché. Measuring is important if you want to be sure of a perfect fit.

To measure your work while it's in progress, lay it down on a flat surface with the needle at your left. Using a nonshrink, nonstretch tape measure, place the end of the tape just under the point indicated in the instructions. Don't stretch your knitting. Simply smooth your work out as it naturally would lie. Now don't cheat yourself by trying to make your work measure more than it really does. You'll only have to rip it out and start all over. Never hold work up to measure it. An article such as a coat or skirt may stretch from the weight of the material, so discontinue working at about two to three inches of required length.

Let your work hang for a few days to allow the knitting to stretch in length naturally. Now, again, measure your work on a flat surface to be sure you've got the correct measurement. It may take a little longer, but when you're finished, all your efforts won't be wasted in the closet. Happy knitting.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — David Wayne is one of many actors in a special kind of limbo. Between now and the middle of the month he will learn whether he is employed or unemployed as NBC reaches its mid-season programming decisions. He probably anticipates the worst.

His situation is peculiar to television. Motion pictures are filmed and released, and performers, work ended, can sit back and hope for a hit. Broadway shows open and either close quickly or survive.

But the actor committed by contract to a role in a television series—particularly a new series—has no options. He is unable to make new commitments until he knows the fate of the old one—and sometimes it takes months.

Wayne, a two-time Tony winner for his Broadway performances as the leprechaun in "Finnian's Rainbow" and as Ens Pulver in "Mr. Roberts," is currently a costar in NBC's comedy, "The Good Life." And "The Good Life" has serious ratings troubles.

With Larry Hagman, star of the series, in Australia during a break in shooting, Wayne was tagged for a nationwide personal appearance tour designed to stir up some interest in the show.

"I've been filling in time putting together a one-man show based on the works of H. L. Mencken," Wayne said during his New York stopover. "We've finished 15 episodes in our series and we ought to know any day now if we go back for more shows or if it's all over."

Wayne has made a number of pilots over the years but has remained as a popular guest star instead of a series regular until now.

"On Broadway it is a matter of fighting with your best, for survival," he said. "In television it seems that people want the familiar. I just don't understand what makes a TV series a winner."

There was a holiday atmosphere around ABC this week. For the first time in six years the network emerged as Nielsen ratings winner during a week in the first quarter of a season. CBS, the previous front-runner, was a close second, a drop occasioned by a full evening devoted to actuality shows, which almost always attract small audiences.

NBC's "Flip Wilson Show" and ABC's "Marcus Welby, M.D." led the hit parade for the week ending Oct. 24. ABC's "Owen Marshall, Counselor-at-Law" moved up fast into third place with the second part of a story started earlier on a Thursday night on the network's "Longstreet," which was in fifth position.

ADDS A DAY OFF

SYDNEY (AP) — One of Australia's largest finance companies is giving 1,300 employees a holiday with pay every fourth Monday.

"There is no catch in it," said the managing director William M. Edmunds. "A greater part of our work is being done by computer and we can afford to give our employees more leisure time."

God is now.

THE GENERATION RAP

—by Helen and Sue Bottel

(Got a problem? Or a subject for discussion, two-generation style? Direct your questions to either Sue of Helen Bottel—or both, if you want a combination mother-daughter answer.)

DID LIBERATION START ON THE DANCE FLOOR?

Dear Bottels:

Can a middle-aged male get in on the Rap?

(NOTE FROM H AND S: Welcome, sir! G.R. isn't "just another teen column." It's for all ages and all people who enjoy reading (or asking or airing) various points of view about the then and now generations.)

Okay, here's my profound elderly thought for today:

After dancing with my teenage daughter at the club last night, I suspect that women's liberation got its first impetus from the modern dance floor—when girls stopped following men's lead.

I tried one of my suave waltzes. She said, "Daddy, stop pulling me around!" I attempted a lively fox trot, which my wife (her mother) follows perfectly. She was stiff as a board.

"Come on, Dad, get with it," she chided. From there on, we danced HER way—three feet apart.

Then I watched her "marking time" with her boy friend to slow music. Egads! This younger generation just stands there and sways or shuffles a bit, with arms loosely around each other. This is dancing?

What's so great about gyrating on a dance floor by yourself or going to sleep standing up?—LOVE'EM AND LEAD 'EM FATHER

HELEN'S ANSWER

Dear Father:

What indeed! I'm with you, Dad. There's no challenge in modern dancing. Maybe that's why the kids look so darned bored out there on the floor.

Ah, for the good old days, the big bands and the fun of realizing you could follow a great leader. Who cared then about doing her own thing so long as she kept time to the music and could read her partner's feet?

But, with 1940-nostalgia very "in," maybe your daughter will soon be asking you all about cheek-to-cheek dancing—and even wanting lessons.—HELEN

SUE'S VIEWS

Dear LEALEF (and also Mom):

When's the last time you went to a high-school or college dance? We don't look bored!

Okay, so we don't follow each other. At least we show some imagination by doing our thing! It's much more fun not worrying about where you move next, or the what-if-I-step-on-his-foot bit.

Slow dances? We're just resting up from the fast number—and getting to know our partners without a lot of fancy footwork.

I'll bet you cheek-to-cheekers never really felt close when you were thinking only of your feet.—SUE

NOTE FROM HELEN TO SUE: Wanta bet?—YOUR MOM

Dear Bottels:

I have been going with this wonderful guy for two years. He has asked me to come to New York over Thanksgiving so we can attend the holiday activities at his college and elsewhere. I'm to stay at a girls' dorm with three other girls. Very proper. He's even written to my folks.

The money for the fare is no problem. It's a 10-hour bus ride to New York. I'm 19 and able to take care of myself.

My parents are still undecided, but maybe your opinions will help.—N.Y.

Dear N.Y.:

Age: check.
Place to stay: check.

Transportation: check.

Nice guy: doublecheck!

All the questions your parents might ask are answered. Go! How could they say No?—SUE

Dear N.Y.:

Sue's answer: Check! Have fun in New York. —HELEN

Jack Mildren Makes the Sooner Go

By ROBERT MOORE
Associated Press Sports Writer
NORMAN, Okla. (AP) —

What makes the second-ranked Oklahoma Sooners go?

The answer is easy: Jack Mildren.

Sooner Coach Chuck Fairbanks doesn't hesitate to put the finger on Mildren, master of the wishbone-T triple option, as the backbone of the Oklahoma offense which is running away with national honors in rushing, total offense and scoring.

Ask any coach whose team has played the Sooners and you get the same answer. Coach Eddie Crowder, whose Colorado team was clobbered by Oklahoma 45-17 three weeks ago, summed up the feeling pretty well by saying:

"What's really making that attack go is the driver ... Mr. Mildren. He is doing a superb job with the option game."

Yet Mildren, a husky, quiet senior quarterback, likely is college football's most unappreciated player.... unappreciated by virtually everyone except Fairbanks and his teammates.

Mildren performs with the craft of a magician Saturday after Saturday, baffling the option with his deadly pitchouts, his magnificent running and his clutch passing. But the headlines to Greg Pruitt and Joe Wylie and Roy Bell.

People say this drawing Texan, who flabbergasted every foe with his dazzling aerials as a high school senior at Abilene, can't pass. Nobody really knows for certain. The Sooners, Fairbanks says, are primarily a running team.

Mildren completed 19 of 36 passes for 538 yards and three touchdowns through Oklahoma's first seven games.

"I'm not as bad a passer as most people say I am," asserts Mildren, who threw for 2,076 yards and 20 touchdowns a high school senior and ran for 787 yards and 24 more touchdowns. "I'd like to pass more, but why should we pass?"

He has a point there. The Sooners rushed for 3,424 yards in recording seven victories and no defeats. Mildren himself chipped in with 1272 of those yards.

Fairbanks is completely sold on Mildren.

"Jack should certainly be considered for All-American and the Heisman Trophy," says Fairbanks. "He's the guy who's making everything work for us."

"Jack is not going to have the individual statistics that will compare with some of the other quarterbacks. Our offense is different. But decisions must be made after the ball is snapped and Jack is able to make those decisions and execute under pressure."

"Our offense requires somebody with complete composure to operate it. In my opinion, Jack Mildren is the greatest quarterback in the country. He makes no bad plays."

Statistically, Mildren is 22, weighs 199 and stands 6-foot-1. He seems unassuming and is extremely polite. But beneath this brawny frame there is an abundance of confidence, in himself and his teammates.

Asked before the season whether he'd rather beat Texas or win the Big Eight championship, Mildren drew his reddish-blond hair and replied:

"Why not both?"

Mildren admits he gets nervous on the morning of a game.

Thinks Turf Arkansas Dropped From Injuries Top 10 in Standings High Price

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
There was no change this week in the standings of the nation's top seven college football teams, but top-rated Nebraska opened up some breathing room on Oklahoma, Penn State closed in on fifth-place Auburn and Notre Dame returned to the Top Ten.

Nebraska defeated Colorado 31-7 Saturday and the defending national champion Cornhuskers received 34 first-place votes and 1,050 points from a nationwide 55-man panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Runner-up Oklahoma pulled down 17 first-place votes and 1,010 points following a 43-12 trouncing of Iowa State. Nebraska's lead a week ago was only 1,044-1,020.

Third-place Michigan received two of the remaining four top votes, with one each going to No. 5 Auburn and No. 6 Penn State. Michigan, which demolished Indiana 61-7, polled 840 points to 782 for fourth-ranked Alabama, a 41-10 winner over Mississippi State.

Last week, Auburn led Penn State by 637-557, but this time the margin is down to 617-595. Auburn trimmed Florida 40-7 while Penn State drubbed West Virginia 35-7. Georgia, No. 7, posted its third consecutive shutout, blanking South Carolina 24-0.

The top seven teams are all undefeated and untied. Notre Dame, which skidded from sixth place to 12th a week ago after bowing to Southern California, whipped Navy 21-0 and made it back up to eighth. Arkansas, last week's No. 3, was upset by Texas A&M 17-9 and dropped to 16th.

Ohio State held off Minnesota 14-12 and inched up from 10th to ninth, replacing Colorado, Nebraska's victim. Arizona State rounded out the Top Ten with a 44-28 whipping of Air Force.

The Second Ten consisted of Tennessee, Stanford, Colorado, Toledo, Texas, Arkansas, Southern Cal, Louisiana State, Houston and Washington. Last week, it was LSU, Notre Dame, Arizona State, Texas, Toledo, Tennessee, Stanford, Air Force, Florida State and Southern Cal.

Bobcat B Boys Win Over Arkadelphia in Close Contest

By BILL MOORE
Star Sports Writer

Although the Arkadelphia Badgers B-team won statistically on turnovers and penalties, the Hope B-Bruins won everything else, including a 7-0 victory.

With a win over Arkadelphia, Hope closes the B-season on a 3-1 record with the other two wins over Prescott and Fairview. An opening loss to Magnolia was the only bad mark.

Arkadelphia received the opening kickoff, but for one half, neither team was able to score.

At the outset of the second quarter, the Badgers recovered a Bruin fumble at the Hope 31 yard line, but stalled at the 15 when the Hope defense stiffened.

Four minutes later, Hope started from their own eight yard line, determined to hit paydirt.

Using the running of back Melvin Weston and Larry Johnson, the Bruins started their move, and with the aid of a 49 yard pass from quarterback Buddy Ingram to Tim Hogan, Hope moved to the Arkadelphia 30.

Weston gained four yards to the 26, but two plays later, a fumble killed the drive with 48 seconds left in the half.

Entering the third period, the B-Bruins received the kickoff and marched to the Badger 37 yard line before being stopped.

But less than four minutes later, they had it again.

Hope began biting off big chunks of yardage, starting from their own 26 with 4:07 left in the quarter.

With Ricky Brown hitting for 14 yards, Weston for 22 more, and Jerrell Coleman getting 13 yards on a toss from Ingram, Hope set up camp at the Badger 31 yard line.

However, an eleven yard loss, and an incomplete pass gave the Bruins a third and 21 at the Arkadelphia 42 yard line.

This time Brown took the handoff, headed around the left side on a sweep, and behind some good line blocking, sprinted the whole 42 yards to paydirt.

Ingram drilled through the PAT kick and Hope led, 7-0, with 1:04 left in the third stanza.

Desperately trying to get the ball moving, Arkadelphia just couldn't move against the Bruin defense, and until late in the game neither team threatened with a score.

But then again it was the Bruins-trying to add on some points as they drove to the Badger three before a fumble once again killed the drive with only 1:12 left in the game.

Porkers Still Lead

in Defense, Offense

DALLAS (AP) — Alvin Maxson, Southern Methodist's hard-plugging sophomore, has worked his way to the top of the Southwest Conference rushing statistics which are as tight as the loop race itself.

Maxson rushed for 82 yards in a 22-18 loss to Texas Saturday and is now averaging 89.3 yards per game.

Last week's leader, Dickey Morton of Arkansas, is second at 86.9.

Arkansas' Joe Ferguson hiked his per-game completion average to 15.6 passes with 31 completions in 51 attempts in that 17-9 loss to Texas A&M.

The only other changes in individual leaders since last week came in kick return categories.

Texas Tech's Marc Dove reclaimed the punt-return lead from Arkansas' Jack Morris, returning three for 34 yards against Rice. Dove is averaging 12.3 yards on 24 returns and Rice's Gilbert King moved ahead of Morris with an 11.9 return average.

Texas Christian's Freddie Pouncy has moved ahead of national kickoff return leader Godfrey White of Baylor with his 30.5 average.

In team categories, Arkansas retained its total offense and total defense leads.

In an interesting side note, Baylor played its fifth consecutive game without losing a fumble.

SMU-Porker Game May Be Televised

NEW YORK (AP) — Hanging out the college football wash:

A New York sports writer received a letter last week denouncing Cornell's Ed Marinaro, the all-time major college rushing leader with 4,132 yards, and Ivy League football in general.

The letter said the Ivy League is "composed of rank amateurs" who "seem to be ignorant of the basic fundamentals of football. They do not block or tackle correctly, do not hit hard and are generally stupid in their attempted execution of plays. Putrid is the most apt word to describe their play."

"Marinaro is a straight, stand-up runner who would never reach the line of scrimmage against a first-class defensive team. If he did reach it he would get belted so hard on one or two plays that the times he didn't fall down (which would be few) he would do some very peculiar things standing up."

A couple of Ivy coaches answered back Monday.

"We never seem to see those gaps in defenses," noted Carmen Piccone, a Cornell assistant. "We see seven-, eight-, nine-man lines. Every defense we meet is some sort of unusual defense to stop Ed. All during the week we practice blocking against 'suppose' defenses because we never know what we're going to see on Saturday."

"But we don't really care what the other team's going to do or how many men they put on the line. Having Marinaro is like having a pair of aces in a poker game. We're not going to drop out. When you're holding a pair of aces against a pair of deuces, that's 50 bucks."

According to Princeton's Jake McCandless, the Ivy League "has better personnel than when I played on a Lambert Trophy team and with a Heisman Trophy winner (Dick Kazmaier) at Princeton 20 years ago. The Ivy League is constantly getting better, to the point now where it ranks some other quarters because some of the kids they'd like to have are here."

ABC-TV hasn't made the announcement yet but try these on for size as the regional telecasts for Nov. 13: Cornell-Dartmouth, Kansas-Oklahoma, Arkansas-Southern Methodist and Washington State-Oregon State.

Alabama's statistician normally is Dr. Merrill Jones, a Huntsville, Ala., engineer, but Dr. Jones didn't make his flight connections on a return trip from Alaska in time to make the game with Houston on Oct. 23.

As a result, Charley Thornton, Alabama's sports information director, had to handle the job ... and he made a 40-yard shortage in the Crimson Tide's rushing statistics. The totals handed out after the game showed Alabama with 258 rushing yards but a recheck boosted it to 298.

"Merrill hadn't missed a game in 10 years," lamented Thornton, "and I sure hope he doesn't miss another one for 10 more years."

Cristiani, a 5-foot-9, 216-pound defensive tackle, grew up with a balance bar in his hands. His father, who owns the Cristiani and Wallace Circus, began teaching Tony how to walk the high wire and the youngster performed the act until his junior high school days.

"I always thought the winter home of the circus was in Sarasota, Fla.," Cahill said. "But Cristiani showed up in Miami, much to our regret."

Carter To Start For Cincinnati Bengals

CINCINNATI (AP) — Virgil Carter, who fired the Cincinnati Bengals to a National Football League division title last year, will return Sunday as their starting quarterback.

Carter has not played quarterback since suffering a dislocated left shoulder in Cincinnati's second game this year—a 20-17 loss to Green Bay.

Counting that game, the Bengals have dropped six consecutive contests and Coach Paul Brown said Monday that starting Carter will be one of the basic changes the club will make in attempts to halt the losing streak.

Dr. Wallace Timperman, who has examined Carter's shoulder, said he thinks Carter is "very able" to play now.

Carter was taken off the injured list Saturday and entered Sunday's 10-6 loss to Houston for two plays—to hold the ball on field goal attempts.

Ellis Leads Maple Leafs To Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ron Ellis earned applause with a three-goal performance, but you might also give a hand to Norm Ullman ... because he gave a hand to Ellis.

Ellis delivered a goal in every period, each time assisted by Ullman, to power the Toronto Maple Leafs to a 6-1 National Hockey League triumph over the Detroit Red Wings Monday night.

The game marked the debut of Johnny Wilson as the Red Wings' coach. He replaced Doug Barkley, who resigned Sunday night.

Ullman had a busy night, also setting up one of two goals by left-winger Paul Henderson, as the Leafs coasted over the Red Wings in the only NHL game.

After Ellis got the winners going 1-0 in the first period, they put the game on ice with two second-period tallies.

Ullman stole the puck at center ice from Red Wings' defender Arnie Brown, then shuttled the puck to Henderson for a 40-foot scoring shot.

Orioles Edge Past Tokyo Giants

TOYAMA, Japan (AP) — Pat Dobson pitched a no-hit, no-run game today as the Baltimore Orioles edged the Tokyo Yomiuri Giants 2-0 on Boog Powell's two-run homer in the fourth inning.

The right-handed curveballer, one of Baltimore's four 20-game winners this season, allowed only three walks.

Had he pitched a perfect game, Dobson would have become the first U.S. major league pitcher to achieve such a feat during a preseason or postseason exhibition tour of Japan.

Thirteen American big league teams, including Casey Stengel's New York Yankees, Walter Alston's Brooklyn Dodgers and four separate All-Star squads, have played against Japan's major leaguers since 1931.

The Orioles scored their only runs in the fourth when Merv Rettenmund singled off Yomiuri's Tsuneo Horiuchi and Powell followed with a homer, his second in Japan.

Horiuchi yielded six hits in going the distance. The loss was his second to the Orioles, while the 29-year-old Dobson gained his second victory.

The triumph extended Baltimore's unbeaten streak in Japan to six in seven games. The Giants battled the Orioles to a 3-3 tie last week.

Injury May End Season For Brown

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Raiders' big offensive tackle, Bob Brown, has undergone a knee operation in Los Angeles that may sideline him for the remainder of the regular season, the team reports.

Brown, who re-injured his left knee during a 20-20 tie Sunday against Kansas City, underwent surgery to correct torn knee cartilage, the Raiders said.

Doctors estimate Brown may be out four or five weeks, but getting in top shape again may take him beyond the seven weeks remaining this season.

However, with the Raiders and Chiefs deadlocked on top of the Western Division of the American Football Conference, where is a possibility Brown could be ready for any post-season action.

The 6-4, 290-pound tackle originally injured the knee in a preseason game and missed a few weeks.

Judgement Is Set Aside in Clay Case

HOUSTON (AP) — A state district court judge has set aside a $100,000 judgment against former heavyweight boxing champion Muhammad Ali.

However, District Court Judge William N. Blanton denied Monday a request for similar action on behalf of a co-defendant, Andre Cameron.

Miss Alvanita Delodge, 26, a Houston saleswoman, claims that Cameron beat her with his fists and with a pistol when she went to Ali's room at a Houston hotel last July to get something at his request.

She was treated at a Houston hospital for a three-inch cut over her eye.

She claimed Cameron was acting as Ali's employee and she sued the two men for $400,000. They did not answer her suit and she was awarded a $100,000 default judgment in early October.

In the Monday ruling, Blanton granted a request to set aside the judgment against Ali and ordered a new trial for him early next year. He ruled Miss Delodge's petition did not establish that Cameron was acting as an employee of Ali at the time of the incident.

In sustaining the judgment against Cameron, Blanton rejected Cameron's claim he could prove Miss Delodge was intoxicated and creating a public nuisance and that he did nothing to contribute to her injuries.

Last Respects Are Paid To TCU Coach

FORT WORTH (AP) — "It was a terrible loss," a Southwest Conference official said, pausing to watch the flow of persons from the University Christian Church.

"There was just something about the guy..."

Such was the recurring theme Monday as nearly 2,000 sports figures, fans, friends and family paid their final respects to Texas Christian football coach Jim Pittman.

Pittman, 46, in his first year at TCU after a successful tenure at Tulane, died Saturday night of a heart seizure during the TCU-Baylor football game at Waco.

Sports personalities from throughout the Southwest streamed Monday into the campus church, where Pittman was eulogized as a person who risked his life to "be a man as God intended him to be."

Pittman's widow, Jane, seated between her two sons, Alex, 21, and Brad, 17, viewed the services from the front row, across the aisle from Pittman's former chief aide, Billy Tohill.

Tohill, 32, named by TCU officials Sunday as an interim replacement as head coach, and other members of Pittman's coaching staff were pallbearers.

All but one of the Southwest Conference head coaches attended the services, the exception was Rice Coach Bill Peterson, who said he was ill and sent a representative.

Such familiar sports personalities as Bobby Layne, Ben Hogan, Davey O'Brien, Frank Broyles, Darrell Royal and J. T. King were among the mourners.

Hogs Will Be Ready For Rice, Says Broyles

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles espoused the "best man wins" theme following the Razorbacks' workout Monday.

Arkansas lost to Texas A&M 17-9 Saturday.

"He who makes the fewest mistakes, wins," Broyles said. "Look around the country on Saturday and you'll usually find the saying to be true."

The coach said the Razorbacks' running game "was down a little, but my head's up—we played a good game."

Broyles said this week's goal is for the players to become the best possible team they can become.

"Our objective is to be better than we've been at any time this year," Broyles said. "We're going to work like that all week."

He said the Razorbacks "are looking forward to preparation for Rice" next Saturday.

Do Athletes Die Young?

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.
Dear Dr. Lamb—I read in the newspaper a story about athletes having a shorter life expectancy than normal. Can you please tell me why? I am very worried about this because I want to become a hockey player.

Dear Reader — The news story you quote must be telling only part of the story. Life expectancy doesn't necessarily refer to poor health or illness. A good example is the astronauts. At this writing nine American astronauts have died out of a population of about 50 astronauts. That is a very high death rate in people who are in outstanding health. Three deaths have been from the space program in the Apollo fire, but six have been from automobile and aircraft accidents. These people as a group are very active and engage in activities that impose a high risk. To date, looking at the group, their life expectancy is better in space flight than on earth. You could say similar things about bullfighters and race car drivers.

There are a large number of athletes who live long and healthy lives. I was interested in one of the Harvard rowing crews where all the men were still alive years later and pushing 80 years of age—still able to row, too. In general, the long-lived athlete is one who engages in endurance sports, like running or skiing.

Often it is said that athletes die young from heart disease. It is true that a number do—but the catch is they do not continue to be athletes. This seems to be particularly true of football players. In high school and college they are very active.

Soon they no longer play football but continue to eat as much as they did before. Before they reach 40 years of age they are former athletes who are now fat slob from a physical point of view. Most overweight out-of-shape men are more likely to have heart attacks than

Used Car Skulduggery

From a friendly used car dealer, Jason bought a car that had been driven only 20,000 miles—according to the speedometer. But a few days later, he found out from the original owner that the true figure was almost 50,000 miles.

Outraged, Jason filed suit against the used car dealer for fraud. But in court, the defendant showed no remorse.

"It is true that I turned the speedometer back," he told the judge, "but only after putting the car in first class condition. As for fraud, I told this man no lies. He just didn't ask me any questions about mileage. All I did was to keep quiet."

Nevertheless, the court ordered the dealer to pay damages. Even if he did not make any false statements, said the court, his deceptive actions spoke louder than words.

Any serious misrepresentation by a used car dealer, whether by word or by deed, will usually give the customer the right either to collect damages or to rescind the deal. But the rule works both ways. Take this case:

A car owner noticed after a collision that his motor block had a crack in it. Carefully he concealed the crack with a sealing material, then sold the car to an unsuspecting used car dealer.

This time it was the dealer who brought suit for fraud. And even though the car owner argued that he had "told no lies," the court ruled that he had indeed perpetrated a fraud on the dealer. A private party has no more right to cheat a dealer, said the court, than the other way around.

If you have been deceived, your chances of getting redress in court are greater if you act promptly.

One man discovered, soon after buying a used car, that the motor was faulty. Although the motor was covered by a warranty, the man procrastinated for almost a year before trying to rescind the sale.

When he finally did try, a court ruled that he had waited too long. The judge said even a valid claim can be lost if the person "sleeps on his rights."

One thing apparent from the Culbertson-Sims match was that the Culbertsons outbid the Sims badly in competitive auctions. Culbertson claimed this was due to the superiority of the Culbertson system. Actually it was due to the fact that while Hal and Ely were great players, Josephine Culbertson was just about on a par with the men and Dorothy well below the others in ability.

Ely gave today's hand as a triumph of Sims against Mrs. Culbertson. The Culbertsons bought the contract at five hearts. With the queen of diamonds located favorably five hearts should make, but Mrs. Culbertson went down one.

Dorothy opened the king of spades. Hal slapped on his ace and played ace-deuce of diamonds. Mrs. Culbertson was so sure that Hal's play indicated a doubleton diamond that she decided to settle for down one and went up with her king. This was bad percentage. She might well have gambled a possible two trick set against a play for her contract.

In one respect it was a triumph for the Sims, but if they had competed to five spades Hal might well have brought home the contract. Jo would win the first trick with the king of hearts and only a club lead to Ely's ace followed by a club return would beat that contract.

Mod Puck, No Reserve Clause In New League

NEW YORK (AP) — Armed with a mod puck and an even more modern plan in management-player relations, the World Hockey Association is open for business.

President Gary L. Davidson, launching operations of the new league Monday, said the 10 teams will open competition next October with a jazzy, multi-colored puck.

More interesting, though, was his revelation that the league would have "no reserve or option clause in its contracts."

The controversial reserve clause, which irrevocably binds a player to a team, has been under fire in baseball, where Curt Flood's suit has reached the U.S. Supreme Court.

Under the WHA's rules, a player will have the option to deal for himself if he is unhappy with contract negotiations. First, his dispute will be taken to a three-man arbitration board—one member appointed by the player, one by the club and one by the other two members.

Americans Eating More But Not Getting The Nutrition They Need

By LEE GOULD
Associated Press Writer
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A New York food consultant says Americans are doing "an incredible amount of eating" that stretches into eight, nine or even 10 meals daily. But he says they still aren't getting needed nutrition.

The reasons are that American mothers are clinging to hopelessly outdated ideas of "three square meals a day" and the American food industry is doing "a rotten job" of advising homemakers, he said.

Dr. Paul Fine made the comments Monday at an American Medical Association, symposium on nutrition. Fine is general chairman of the three-day conference which he hopes will lead to better education of both food buyers and manufacturers.

"Very few mothers are aware of the incredible amount of eating that goes on today," Fine said. "The loss of iron control over eating is new and the breakdown is much more rapid than people realize."

In general, Fine blames the breakdown on the accelerated pace of U.S. living.

"The battle is hopelessly lost. We must re-educate mothers. Too often they take the attitude with their family that 'I'll catch them at dinner,' only she doesn't catch them at dinner. Even the idea of the daily family dinner gathering is breaking down."

"We must work within the framework of reality and reality is that constant eating is going on all day."

Most of the new responsibility, Fine said, falls on food manufacturers and he says, "manufacturers are doing a rotten job."

"Most of the food industry operates on a product-by-product basis, with no interest in food itself. They have no commitment to the idea of food, or even to their products as food...."

"They should help the housewife to find the proper place for their product, not just sell it," he said.

Fine concedes that the manufacturers have a problem.

"You can't sell nutrition," he said, "but you can sell food."

Scientist Working in U.S. Awarded

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Two European scientists now working in the United States and Canada today won the 1971 Nobel prizes for physics and chemistry. Each award is worth $88,000.

The physics award went to Dr. Dennis Gabor of Stamford, Conn., inventor of the three-dimensional lensless system of photography known as holography.

Dr. Gabor, 71, is on the staff of the Columbia Broadcasting System's laboratories in Stamford. A native of Hungary, he moved to England in 1933, married a British woman three years later and is now a British citizen.

The chemistry prize went to another physicist, Dr. Gerhard Herzberg of the Canadian National Research Council in Ottawa, for his "contributions to the knowledge of electronic structure and geometry of molecules, particularly free radicals."

"Under Herzberg's dynamic leadership," the Royal Swedish Academy of Science said, "his laboratory has attained a unique position as the foremost center for molecular spectroscopy in the world."

Born in Hamburg and now a citizen of Canada, Dr. Herzberg will be 67 on Christmas Day. He is the first Canadian to win a Nobel prize in either chemistry or physics.

The two prizes announced today completed the 1971 awards from the foundation established by the will of Alfred Nobel, Swedish inventor of dynamite.

Dr. Gabor is the third scientist working in America to win a 1971 Nobel award of $88,000.

The others are Dr. Earl W. Sutherland Jr. of Vanderbilt University, medicine, and Prof. Simon Kuznets of Harvard, economics. The peace prize went to Chancellor Willy Brandt of West Germany and the prize for literature to Pablo Neruda, the Chilean poet.

The Royal Swedish Academy of Science cited Dr. Gabor for "his invention and development of the holographic method," the idea for which he has said came to him as he watched a tennis match. As the tennis ball flew back and forth at great speed, he wondered if the three-dimensional image he was watching from various spots around the court might not be captured on film.

The process he developed in 1948 at the University of London uses a laser beam, the concentrated beam of light that does not spread out the way a flashlight beam does. The three-dimensional image of an object is recorded on a photographic plate when the laser is aimed both at the object and the plate. The image is a recording of various light waves, not a visual image, and when the laser beam is again aimed at the plate, the image appears in three dimensions.

Halbrook showed the committee data that indicated in California nearly 60 per cent of a school district's funding is produced at the district level, whereas in Arkansas less than 40 per cent is produced locally.

"The Arkansas situation is not near as extreme as California," Halbrook said. "I'm not saying that we have a constitutionally acceptable system, but that it may be constitutionally defensible."

This might be so, he said, since the distribution of state aid constitutes 45.5 per cent of school financing in Arkansas but composed only 35 per cent in California. The state aid in Arkansas is distributed under a formula intended to equalize any inequities resulting locally from variance in property values, he said.

Soybeans Are Threatened by Dock Strike

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A record soybean harvest in Alabama is overflowing storage facilities and threatening farmers with losses of millions of dollars unless ships tied up by the dock strike begin to move the crop.

Alabama shipping and agricultural interests joined in an urgent appeal to President Nixon to intervene in the 32-day-old strike by the International Longshoremen's Association at East and Gulf Coast ports.

No talks were scheduled in New York where an I.L.A. walk-out precipitated the tieup. Secret negotiations covering south Atlantic ports resumed Monday in Tampa, Fla., but little headway was reported.

Similar reports of no progress came from Washington where talks in the nationwide coal strike resumed Monday. An industry source indicated a settlement was not very near in the 33-day-old walkout.

United Mine Workers President W. A. "Tony" Boyle accused unnamed nonunion mine operators of seeking to provoke violence in order to create a rift between sympathetic nonunion miners and U.M.W. strikers.

Most of Things You Dread Are Really Not So Bad When Reached

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — What is it like to be 60?

When I reached this epic anniversary earlier this year, I wasn't sure whether I should give up completely or simply buy myself a ready-made suit of sackcloth and ashes and make the best of it.

But like most things you dread ahead of time, being 60 has turned out to be quite endurable—although I certainly wouldn't recommend it for anyone under 59.

One of the glum things about hitting 60 is that you get very little sympathy from others when you complain about the pangs of a new disease, such as hardening of the arteries or falling of the arches.

"At your age," they tell you breezily, "what did you expect—mumps?"

Whatever it is, you are expected to be grateful that it isn't something worse, like athlete's foot between the ears.

There are some people who insist after turning 60 that they feel as well as before or maybe even a mite better. But everybody knows what they are: liars.

By and large, however, reaching the age of 60 has some compensations that make it less fearful than anticipated.

For example:

While age is regarded as almost immoral in this country, many of your best friends still go on speaking to you just as if you hadn't done anything to lower their regard for you. They realize it isn't altogether your fault.

Teen-agers don't treat you any worse at 60 than when you were 40. To them, of course, anyone over 30 is regarded as an impossible dodo and walking relic.

Your body doesn't automatically crumble all at once. If you drink one less martini at lunch and get half an hour more sleep at night, you probably won't even have to step up your daily ration of antacid pills.

It isn't necessary to buy expensive clothing or have it cleaned and pressed as often. People expect you to become somewhat dilapidated and seedy-looking. It annoys them if you try to look like a fashion

Sewage System in Hot Springs Deters Business

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Commission on Pollution Control and Ecology refused Monday to allow a Safeway Store to construct a store in Hot Springs which would connect to the city's sewer system.

In March 1970 the commission ordered the city to upgrade its sewage and water treatment facilities. The commission said it would allow no new connection to Hot Springs' sewage treatment systems until the improvements were made.

"If the city of Hot Springs finds themselves deprived of a new Safeway store and a few other things, maybe they would get busy," said Commission Chairman Carl E. Wright of Little Rock.

Wright said the "entire state" was watching the success of the commission in the Hot Springs order.

"Up to this point I can't see where Hot Springs has done very much," he said. "I wonder how much pressure is being brought by the citizens on the city to get started."

Wright said Monday that the commission had turned down about 300 requests to waive its ban on further connections to the city's sewer system.

The Safeway store had offered to "swap" their old store for a new one. The store's proposal was to vacate an older building and leave it vacant to move into a newer building.

Attorneys for the store said the new store would be equipped with three toilets just like the old store and would not produce any added drain on the city's sewer system.

In addition the new store would have a garbage disposal, which the attorneys said would not be used until the improvements in the city's system had been made.

The commission approved two plans of Hot Springs businesses to construct their own private sewer treatment plants.

Natives of Alaska Get $1 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — A conference committee will begin work soon on a compromise of Senate and House bills to settle aboriginal land claims of Alaska natives.

The Senate passed Monday, 76 to 5, a bill to give about 55,000 Eskimos, Aleuts and Indians $1 billion and 30 million to 40 million acres of land.

A House-passed bill calls for $925 million and 40 million acres. The money would include $425 million in federal funds appropriated over a 10-year period and $500 million in royalties from mineral production on Alaska public lands.

The Senate bill calls for $500 million in federal funds over 12 years, $500 million in royalties and a vote by the natives on alternate offers of either title to 40 million acres or ownership of 30 million acres and the right to use an additional 20 million acres.

POSSIBLE ENTRY in the 1972 presidential sweepstakes is Carl Stokes, outgoing mayor of Cleveland. Although he has downplayed possible candidacy himself, his name has cropped up repeatedly in discussions among leading black politicians of a drive to unite black voters behind a candidate of their own.

Proposes Change in System of UN Votes

By HOWARD ANGIOINE
Associated Press Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — China and India would join the United States and the Soviet Union as the big powers in the United Nations under the weighted voting system proposed by Sen. Alan Cranston.

The California Democrat told a news conference in Washington Monday he has introduced a resolution in the Senate calling on the U.S. government to work for a conference to revise the U.N. charter and particularly to change the one-nation, one-vote system in the General Assembly.

Noting that countries representing only 4 per cent of the world's population constitute a majority of the U.N. voting power, Cranston said: "One suggestion is distributing the votes in accordance with population, with ceiling and basement limits. There might be one vote for every country with populations up to 5 million and one vote additional for every 5 million people after that up to a ceiling limit."

The senator suggested a maximum of 30 votes, and under his formula that is the number China, India, the United States and the Soviet Union each would have. But, the Soviet Union would have 10 additional votes—nine for the Ukraine and one for Byelorussia. There would be a total of 482 votes in the 131-nation Assembly, with 87 nations retaining one vote and 44 getting a additional ones.

Cranston said his resolution has the backing of 60 senators, but there was no indication of the Nixon administration's reaction. Even if the Senate approves it and the administration looks favorably on it, the proposal could not be introduced in the General Assembly before next September.

A change in the U.N. Charter requires a two-thirds vote in the General Assembly and ratification by two-thirds of the 131 member governments, including the five permanent members of the Security Council—the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain, France and China. But U.N. members, including the major powers, have expressed little support for weighted voting in the past, contending that studies indicated it would not have had a substantial effect on most U.N. decisions.

Dike Bridge Under Repair

EDGARTOWN, Mass. (AP) — The Dike Bridge on Chappaquiddick Island is undergoing repair.

Workmen began routine repairs Monday, which included replacement of planking and support timbers.

In July 1969 a car driven by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., rolled off the bridge, resulting in the death of Mary Jo Kopechne, a passenger.

GAO Calls For Rehabilitation Of Alcoholics

By ROBERT A. DORKIN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional investigators have reported an estimated 130,000 alcoholics in the armed forces, but say the Pentagon has done little to treat them, preferring punishment instead.

A report today by the General Accounting Office said the Defense Department could save thousands of careers and at least $120 million a year by treating and rehabilitating alcoholics as it now does drug users.

The GAO recommended a comprehensive alcoholism-control program which would provide that alcoholism be recognized as a disease.

Although both the World Health Organization and the American Medical Association long ago recognized alcoholism as a disease, the GAO said, it found hospital commanders who "believed that chronic alcoholism and problem drinking represented moral and spiritual deficiency."

The GAO study was made at the request of the Senate subcommittee on alcoholism and narcotics headed by Sen. Harold E. Hughes, D-Iowa.

Releasing the report, Hughes criticized the armed services for paying only minor attention to modern alcoholism-control programs "compared to the effort being expended on newer, more sensationalized forms of drug abuse."

"This ignores the fact known to every expert in the drug field, that alcohol abuse causes more deaths, accidents, destruction of careers, delinquency, breakup of families, human misery and economic loss than all other forms of drug abuse combined," said Hughes, a reformed alcoholic.

In its report, the GAO said that although the percentage of alcoholics in uniform is comparable to that of the civilian population, the incidence in the military "could be a more serious problem because of the frequently dangerous and critical duties involved."

Earlier this year, the Pentagon appointed an interservice task force to study the alcoholism problem.

Although a report is expected shortly, the Pentagon has told the GAO it prefers "to recognize alcoholism as a condition which is preventable and treatable through the application of enlightened attitudes and techniques." Because under current law a disease is equated with disability, alcoholics would have to be compensated financially as with a heart condition or other physical ailments, the Pentagon said. The military now treats alcoholism as misconduct, which is punishable

Property Tax In Arkansas May Be Defensible

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Legislative Council Education Committee was told Monday that the extreme variances that exist in the California property tax situation do not exist in Arkansas.

Rep. Julian Street of Camden had asked for a report since the property tax, which led to the invalidation of the California finance system, also is an integral part of the school financing system in Arkansas.

Marcus Halbrook, director of the council, said that in the California case districts were as extreme as a 10,000 to one ratio.

However, he said in Arkansas from the highest—Magnet Cove with $1,025 spent per average daily attendance—to the lowest—Gosnell with $296 per ADA—are on a range much less extreme.

Street had said that the question of the constitutionality of the property tax system had arisen since Circuit Court Judge Maupin Cummings of Fayetteville had ruled that the property tax assessment law was unconstitutional as it applied to a Washington County shopping center.

In his own presentation earlier, Street had said in the California case, the court used extremes that were no more than 2½ to one to illustrate the variance in education due to variance in the California property tax system.

Halbrook showed the committee data that indicated in California nearly 60 per cent of a school district's funding is produced at the district level, whereas in Arkansas less than 40 per cent is produced locally.

"The Arkansas situation is not near as extreme as California," Halbrook said. "I'm not saying that we have a constitutionally acceptable system, but that it may be constitutionally defensible."

This might be so, he said, since the distribution of state aid constitutes 45.5 per cent of school financing in Arkansas but composed only 35 per cent in California. The state aid in Arkansas is distributed under a formula intended to equalize any inequities resulting locally from variance in property values, he said.

Rockefeller Critical of Bumpers

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Former Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller had some criticism of Gov. Dale Bumpers with a familiar ring to it.

Rockefeller said that Bumpers has spent too much time out of the office lately—a frequent charge during Rockefeller's own administration.

"Quite frankly, I will admit that if my memory is not short, the press was very diligent of keeping the public informed of my whereabouts," Rockefeller said.

"If my memory is correct, Governor Bumpers has been out of the state five weeks in the last two months," Rockefeller said. "He's been in office less than a year, and knowing the problems of getting your team organized, I frankly think that he has done this at the expense of good administration in the state."

In a world looking for answers maybe God is the place to start.

God is hope. God is now.
